MONEY THAT WILL NOT DEFAUD.

There never has been in this country so much discussion on the money question as now. Nearly all other issues are buried beneath the financial wave which is rolling over the country. The North is losing sight of the all-important question as to whether there shall be free and impartial State governments in the South, whether one party alone shall vote for State and county officers, or whether a free ballot shall enable all legal voters to cast the ballot of his choice. In every Northern State the issue is "money, more money." Not content with the soundest system of paper currency the United States ever adopted, not satisfied with the volume of currency which in its purchasing power is greater now than it ever has been, and not appreciating the fact that the greenback dollar is worth a dollar in gold, the inflationists are demanding that the Government shall print more money for the people. They charge that the business interests of the country require more greenbacks, that in consequence of what they call contraction, the laboring men and business generally, are depressed. It is easy to clamor for more money, and to cry contraction, but facts are against the inflationists. The hard times, the stagnation in business, the idle mills, and the unemployed workmen are not the result of a "false financial system" as charged by the so-called Greenbackers. We never had a better paper money. For the first time in the history of this country, the paper is virtually on a par with gold. The Greenback and the National bank note never before had so great a purchasing power as now. They are within one-fourth of a cent of the value of gold, and as the President says, there it sticks, "steadily as the level of our lakes." The United States never before saw the time when there was so much good money about as there is to-day. We never before had a paper currency that could hold up its head and march abreast with silver and gold.

The charge of the inflationists that our financial system is false, and that men are idle and trade disturbed because of the want of more money, is not true. Capitalists cannot remember the time when money was more cheap than it is to-day. The banks have a surplus. It wants borrowers. Interest is low, which is an indication that there is plenty of money which seeks investments. But men can't get money without they have something to get it with. They must have goods to sell, labor to give, or collateral to put up, or else the money can not pass honestly into their hands. Printing hundreds of millions of dollars on paper will not help the laboring man or any one else. The money must be earned, it must be paid for, before it can find its way in his pocket. The so-called Greenbackers seem to lose sight of this very important fact. They have howled so much about "lots of money," that they have unfitted the minds of some of the lower classes, and deluded them into the belief that an enormous issue of greenbacks which should be irredeemable, will make times good, work plenty, and wages high. Wild notions cannot be suggested. The past experience of this country proves that the very opposite would be the result. All sensible men know that business can not fully revive, without public confidence is restored. The sooner it is understood and felt in every community that our financial system is as stable as the Government, that every paper dollar in the country will buy as much flour or meat as a dollar made of gold, that it is equal in value to a gold dollar, the earlier will good times return, and the laboring man have plenty of work and good wages. In order to lift up the working classes, to revive trade, to put the machinery in the mills and workshops in motion, to inspire new enterprises, and to infuse life into all our industries, we must have public confidence restored, and a paper dollar which shall defraud no man. These alone will bring us prosperity; paper money which is irredeemable and a fraud, cannot do it.

The Republican party, and a large class of the Democratic party, are opposed to this scheme to flood the country with a false paper dollar—a dollar which will not and in the very nature of things can not circulate with silver and gold. They want a paper dollar which can shake hands with gold, and run a race with gold. Any other is a fraud, and will rob the workingman and every other man of his labor. Mr. Pendleton, now the champion fraud paper man, once said in Congress, that if "we send the greenbacks out into the world stamped with irredeemability," we put on them the mark of Cain, and like Cain, they will go forth to be vagabonds and fugitives on the earth."

THE STATE FAIR.

The twenty-fifth annual exhibition of the State Agricultural Society closed at Madison on Friday. The fair has been a successful one, both financially and otherwise. The receipts will foot up a little over $14,000, against $13,200 last year when the fair was held in Janesville. The visit of President Hayes did considerable in adding to the gate receipts on Tuesday, otherwise the receipts would have fallen below those of last year. The exhibition was a good one, an honor to the Society and a credit to the State. The show of horses was much inferior to that of previous years, so was the display in the Art Gallery, but not desiring to make any laudatory comparisons, because that would be unjust, it is proper to say that the fair throughout was a success, and that the officers of the State Agricultural Society, and the citizens of Madison, are entitled to the thanks of the people for their successful efforts in making the exhibition what it should be. The various departments, save one or two exceptions only, were well filled with stock and articles well worth seeing, and being chiefly the product of Wisconsin soil or genius, reflected great credit on our young, enterprising and growing State. There is another thing for which the officers of the Society and the citizens of Madison should be thanked, and that is the visit of the President of the United States. It was a good thing for the people of the State to see him; and more than that, it was a profitable thing to hear his speech—a speech not-partisan in its tenor, and able and exceedingly instructive. The Society is to be congratulated that another successful exhibition has enabled it to throw off the financial burden which the disaster of two years ago placed upon it. The old officers were re-elected, and being men of unselfish motives, and enterprising, they will place the Society in an excellent financial condition. It is worthy the united support, and the officers the hearty co-operation, of every farmer, manufacturer, and business man in the State.

Mrs. Thompson, wife of the late Memphis postmaster, was at Oconomowoc, in this State, last week, when her husband died of yellow fever. She came here early in the summer to enjoy a few weeks at that pleasant watering place, and in her absence the fever broke out. Though she knew of her husband's illness, she was advised not to return, and she remained. She saw the President at Madison on Tuesday, and an effort was being made, on the part of her friends, to have her appointed to fill the vacancy.

There will be an interesting time in the Maine Legislature next winter. The Republicans have a majority in the Senate, but the Democrats and the Nationals have a majority in the House. Under the Constitution, the Senate must make choice between two of the candidates voted for, who shall be named by the House. It will be seen that the Constitution opens the way for a rich fight, especially when the House is made up of 69 Republicans, 51 Nationals, and 21 Democrats.

As the Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts approaches, the indications are that Butler won't capture that body. While he has gobbled the Boston delegates (Democratic) the State Committee has adopted a resolution, that no delegate shall be admitted to the Convention who will support a candidate for governor who is not a Democrat—a member of the party in good standing. This excludes Ben Butler.

Anything to beat Randall. It is said in Pennsylvania that the Republicans will nominate Mr. Shaddon, for Congress in Speaker Randall's district, and that should Shaddon receive the nomination he will defeat Randall. The latter has made the most partisan, and unjust Speaker that ever occupied that responsible position. His defeat would do the country a service.

If Bragg thinks he can carry the Nationals and the sound money Democrats of the Fifth District together with their platform, in his little breeches' pocket, he will be disappointed. The Democrats who have some pride in supporting a currency which will not ruin the business of the country, will stick themselves out.

The Cincinnati Commercial wants to know why it costs the United States $2,000 to kill an Indian, when England can dispense of a Caffre for $625.

"Demo-green-crut-backie," is the name given by the Congressionalists to the inflationists.

Do the inflationists "point with pride" to the stanzas of the man March, of Maine, for Congress?

A Milder Form.

The Latest News from the Plague Regions of the South.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 13.—All undertakers but one reported to-night, the total deaths reported being ninety three, of which forty-four were colored. Resident physicians reported twenty-nine new cases to the Board of Health. The report of the medical corps of the Howard Association will not be made up until midnight. Yesterday the Howard Association reported 292 new cases. The disease is assuming a milder form, and yields more readily to treatment, which is attributed to the recent cold weather.

Four Howard physicians have the fever, viz: Dr. Bond, of Brownsville; Dr. Armstrong, city; Dr. McGregor, Tipton county, Iowa; Dr. Menzies, Nashville. Dr. S. R. Clarke and wife are sick; also W. R. Thompson, of Washington, and the Rev. Mr. Schuyler, Episcopal minister, from Hoboken, New Jersey. Captain Wm. Miller died to-day.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 13.—The official statement of yellow fever: Deaths from 12 m. yesterday, to 12 m. to-day, 58; new cases since last report, 228; total number of cases to date, 6,137; total number of deaths to date, 1,123.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 13.—Clear, cool. The signal service report the minimum thermometer last night 61. A private instrument near the ground indicated 57. From noon to 6 p. m. 29 deaths were reported. Among the 228 cases reported to noon to-day were nearly 50 dating from the 25th of August to the 9th inst., besides 25 reported by one physician, who gave no date.

Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 13.—The outbreak to-day is not so encouraging as yesterday by any means. The weather has moderated considerably, and the sun has been very warm all day. The death list has over doubled that of yesterday, being thirty-one.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Postoffice Department has great difficulty in the management of the postal affairs in the infected districts. The morning dispatch is particularly distressing. The Postmaster died a few days ago, when a telegram appeal was received requesting that they would wait until she recovered before appointing her. This morning a dispatch was received that she was dead. All the bondsmen are dead, or have left the city. All the money, stamps, and records of the office are locked in a safe, and the only persons who know the combination are dead. A clergyman is now acting as volunteer Postmaster for two hours daily.

This is a violation of law on the part of the Department, but there is no remedy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Dr. William F. Ranney, one of the physicians who went to Memphis with a corps of Washington nurses, has returned to Washington in company with Dr. L. Pease and Mrs. Wallis. In an interview, Dr. Ranney said: "Before reaching Memphis, even when five miles out, the air was laden with yellow fever poison, and as we approached the city the stench was absolutely sickening. Dr. Pease and myself went to the Peabody Hotel, the only one now open, and were shown into a room from which a dead lady had just been removed. Vessels of black vomit were standing about the room and the bed clothes had not been changed. The hotel itself is a perfect pest house and the victims of the disease are in two-thirds of the rooms. Sulphur pans were kept burning in the halls, and clothes and bedding are constantly disinfected, but they can't get something in the hotel to do half what ought to be done. All commerce has ceased and business of nearly every kind is suspended. People have no heart to attempt any regular business and could not if they would. Even liquor saloons for the most part are closed, and provision stores as a rule are empty. The greatest need is provisions, clothing, money, physicians, nurses and medicines. The best thing that can be done now is to send plenty of provisions and clothing. The negroes and many whites for a section of one hundred and fifty miles around Memphis have flocked in there, hearing they could get something in eat, and as for clothes, hundreds of poor people are going about the streets, especially colored women, with hardly anything on at all. The sights in this respect are distressing. So far, no serious outbreak has occurred, but the bitter classes are in constant terror of riot. The city is in the hands of the colored police, altogether, and while they behave very well there is still a lurking fear on the part of the whites of some additional evil."

Encouragement for the People
So long as the falling waters of vitality are capable of being re-kindled into a warm and genial glow, just so long there is hope for the weak and emaciated invalid. Let him not, therefore, despond, but derive encouragement from this

LIST OF PATENTS.

The following patents have been issued out of the United States Patent Office, to citizens of Wisconsin, for the week ending August 27th, 1878. Reported for the Janesville Gazette by S. A. Hudson, Solicitor of Patents, &c., Lappin's Block, Janesville:

PUBLIC DEBT.

An Analysis of the Public Debt by the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—The Department has compiled an analysis of the public debt from July 1, 1860, to July 1, 1878. There could not be a more valuable campaign document. The table shows the entire debt, according to the different classes, with the annual interest charge, debt on which interest has ceased, cash in the Treasury at the beginning of each fiscal year, with the population of the United States, and the debt and interest per capita. The highest point of indebtedness was August 31, 1865, at which time the interest-bearing debt was $3,381,530,294, with an annual interest charge of $150,977,697. There was then in the Treasury $88,000,000, and the debt per capita was $78.25, and the interest per capita $4.29.

The administration of the finances by the Republican party has resulted in a reduction of this enormous war debt from $3,381,530,294 to $1,794,735,656, which reduces the debt per capita from $78.25 to $41.67, and the interest per capita from $4.29 to $1.97, being a reduction of more than half of the interest account per capita. The reduction of the debt and interest account of 1865 has been rapid and continuous, the reduction averaging from $3 to $4 per head each year.

CAPTAIN BENNETT.

Killed in an Engagement with the Indians.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13.—The telegraphic news, through the Inter Ocean special, informing us that Captain Andrew S. Bennett was killed in a recent battle with the Indians, has caused sorrow to many hearts in this State where he belonged, and in which he was a great favorite. His immediate relations are living at Waubesa. He was a brother-in-law to Judge H. D. Barron, of St. Croix Falls. Captain Bennett was Adjutant of the old Fifth Regiment of this State in the late war, and went through many battles there, as also with the Indians since, without receiving a scratch, until this sad event. He was about 35 years of age, of splendid physique, and the soul of honor and bravery.

A PUT UP JOB.

MONOMONIE, Wis., Sept. 13.—John Wise, of Kaup, ten miles west of Menomonie, who four months ago was arrested on the charge of assault with attempt to rape on his twelve-year old daughter, was acquitted to-day, the jury remaining out only a short time. The evidence clearly shows that it was a put up job on the part of his wife and older daughter who were anxious to rid themselves of the old man. A great injustice has been done Mr. Wise, for being unable to obtain bail, he has been confined in the county jail over four months.

SENTENCED.

OSHKOSH, Sept. 13.—Albert Kiech, who was convicted of highway robbery in the Circuit Court on Thursday, was this afternoon sentenced by Judge Pulling to three years in the State prison, the first three days of each year to be spent in solitary confinement. Kiech is about twenty years of age and was born in Fond du Lac.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

GEMINI—No Name Series. New York: Roberts Brothers, from James M. McGraw, Chicago; Janesville: Sutherland & Sons.

Obviously written by one thoroughly familiar with the hourly New England country life of which she writes. It is a plain, neutral tinted story, without plot or startling incident, but the characters are well drawn and sustained throughout.

TRIM SARCASM OF DESTINY. New York: D. Appleton & Co.; from James M. McGraw, Chicago; Janesville: Sutherland & Sons.

There is a good deal in the title of a book, and this is an attractive one because the reader wonders what it means. When he has read the book he will decide it is "sarcasm" to suppose that the hero and heroine, loving each other to destruction, will not unite their destinies in the end, and live happy ever after, even though a superstitious wife and a perfidious husband must be consigned to an early grave—a beautiful young lady banished to a convent, a fascinating young man given over to a life of gloom and despair, besides several other startling incidents of minor importance.

The style is crude and abrupt and sometimes absurd; still the writer is not without some talent, and in this book even, gives promise of a future.

A PRIMER OF GREEK LITERATURE—By E. G. Webb, M. A. New York, D. Appleton & Co.; from James M. McGraw, Chicago; Janesville: Sutherland & Sons.

This little book is beyond all praise. In 165 small pages are given a resume of Greek literature at once brief and profound. The stories of the Iliad and of the Odyssey are master pieces of condensation.

How Changes Occur in the Affairs of Men.

Twenty-six years ago a young man entered the service of the Boston Belting company as a minor clerk. Twenty years after he had risen to be clerk of the corporation, and confidential clerk of its manager and treasurer. Political honors followed success in business, and he was called to serve his city in various positions of trust and honor. Against his personal desire, his fellow citizens asked him to become their nominee for the mayoralty. He accepted, and the day of election approached. The election was to occur Monday. On Saturday the treasurer summoned his assistant to a conference and suddenly told him he could be Mayor of Summerville or clerk of the Belting company, but that he must choose between the two. Though taken by surprise he instantly replied, "I accept the alternative, I am glad that though I have been with you twenty-one years I can accept no more honorable alternative." He received an almost unanimous election, but two votes being cast against him. A few days later he called upon his late employer and asked him, "What shall I say as my reason for leaving a position where I have been all my business life?" The exemplary business man replied, "Oh, say you have been unanimously elected to be mayor of your city, and that your duties in that position will take all your time." "No," replied the mayor, "that is untrue. I shall always tell my friends the facts in the case—how you let me be one honorable alternative, and I accepted it." And he always did.

Within a month, when a severe thunder storm was passing over the city, the former clerk, called in by the officers of the company, and the former treasurer sat together in a room under the gas light, though it was afternoon, and the former clerk, the aged treasurer sat with tears streaming down his cheeks, thoroughly broken in mind and body. The former clerk was going over the old man's assets, just turned over to the company, to partially make good the loss occasioned by his misdeeds.

The Cost of a Seat in Parliament.

But while corruption in its coarsest form is now happily confined to certain well known constituencies in England and Ireland (for both Wales and Scotland have the reputation of being pure in matters of election) the expense of contesting a seat is still considerable, and in some places exorbitant. It is calculated that a general election costs something like four millions sterling, and all this expenditure, except the comparatively insignificant sum that comes out of the Tory election chest, falls upon the candidates. Borough seats cannot be contested except at a cost of from £500 to £5,000 for each candidate. County seats may run up as high as £20,000 per candidate, and no county in the United Kingdom can be fought under £1,000 to each candidate. It would be imagined from these figures that the expense would act as a deterrent, and that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to find some 1,200 solid, unimaginative Englishmen willing to throw away so much money upon so little, and it is difficult to persuade men on the liberal side of politics to engage in contests for county seats. The chances of success are small, as the land-owning and farming classes are rigidly Tory. —Letter to the Nation.

Died From Shaving Off His Beard.

A Seneca Falls (N. Y.) paper tells the following singular story in connection with the announcement that John E. Langdon, long a resident of that city, died of lockjaw. "On Saturday Mr. Langdon shaved off his beard, and the next day felt a stiffness about his jaws. On Sunday, the symptoms being worse, Dr. Lester was called, and concluded that it was a case of trismus. On the following day spasms developed in the muscles of the jaw, neck and back, and the doctor then pronounced it to be lockjaw. The spasms continued with occasional relaxations, until the hour of his death. No effort of medical skill was spared, but it was impossible to afford him relief. The muscles of the neck and limbs stood out prominent, and were tense and rigid.

ASSEMBLY CONVENTIONS.

FIRST DISTRICT.

A Republican Convention of the First Assembly District of Rock county, composed of the towns of Avon, Beloit, Center, Magnolia, Newark, Plymouth, Spring Valley, Union, and Watrous, was held at the Court House in Beloit, on Thursday, September 13, 1878, at 10 o'clock, a.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member of Assembly. The town of Union was entitled to four delegates; the balance of the towns and the wards of the City of Beloit two each.

Dated this 14th day of September, 1878.

W. A. GOTT, Chairman.

O. C. JOHNSON, Secretary.

I. S. BOHLE, Committee.

THIRD DISTRICT.

The Third Assembly District Convention, of Rock County, comprising the towns of Bradford, Clinton, Fulton, Harmony, Johnson, La Prairie, Lima, Milton, Porter, and Turle, met at the Court House, in the city of Janesville, on Thursday, the 26th, of September, at two o'clock, p.m., to nominate a candidate for the Assembly. In said district, and amongst any other townships which may be held by the Convention. As per resolution adopted at the Assembly Convention, of August 10th, 1878, the several towns will be entitled to the same number of delegates as in the County Convention, viz: Clinton, Milton, and Fulton, four each; Porter, Lima, Johnson, Harmony, La Prairie, Bradford, and Turle, two each.

By Order of Committee.

AGRICULTURAL ITEMS.

The country pays $100,000,000 annually as the price of the sugar we use.

Corn cut and shocked as soon as it is well glazed makes the best corn fodder.

A foreign correspondent of the Baltimore American says: "Women and cows in France for work, men and horses for war."

In England 40 bushels of wheat per acre is not an unusual yield, and 50 or 60 bushels per acre is often realized as the result of high farming.

Obilg to import each year about 100,000,000 bushels in addition to her own crop to feed her people.

The Farmers Gazette, Dublin, Ireland, in an article on the "Great agricultural questions of the day," in which it considers agricultural questions for foreign countries, says: "We thought we were safe in the matter of meat, but that comforting illusion is being rapidly dispelled, for mighty steam has so bridged the ocean that, aided by chemical science, foreign meat, alive and dead, may be said to walk into our markets side by side with our own supplies."

A committee appointed last year by a Georgia Grange to ascertain the exact cost of a corn crop reported as follows: One of the committee planted 40 acres of land having a rich red soil, and from which he obtained 40 bushels per acre. The total actual cost of cultivation and manure was $18.55, and the rest of the land was worth $3 per acre, making the 1,600 bushels of corn cost $307, or a little over 19 cents per bushel.

To find out whether a garden has been planted or not, a paper gives the following rule: If one forgets whether beds were planted or not, a good way to tell is to turn a stray cat into the garden. If the beds are planted, the cat will proceed and race around and dig into them, and act as if she had relatives in China it was anxious to get at; while, if they are not, it will sit down calmly in the path and seem to be meditating on the progress of missionary work in Africa. A cat's instinct seldom deceives in this matter."

The Sweating Process in Wheat.

From the St Paul (Minn.) Pioneer Press.

We police by our exchanges that many of the farmers about the State are again threshing from the shock and hauling their grain direct to market. Ordinarily this plan has some advantage to recommend it, but this year, when the wheat has been threshed out by hot suns and repeated rains, it is not advisable. It should by all means go into the stack and undergo the "sweat" before being threshed and sold. This will in most cases raise the grade and save the owner from 5 to 10 cents on the bushel.

The "sweating" process is not one generally understood. Taking wheat of medium or soft, or even hard, and stacking or mowing them, in a short time they will be undergoing what is commonly known as the "sweat." On opening the stack the straw will be found damp as well as the grain, accompanied by considerable heat, which lasts for a number of days. At such times it is difficult to separate the berry from the head, and it is seldom threshed by any good farmer till this period is past.

The result of this sweat is that the color of the berry is restored, while the kernel itself is filled out and is considerably plumper than when it went into the stack. That is not all. During this time there has been a constant absorption by the berry of the nutritive elements in the stalk, and consequently, a higher quality of flour than if not stacked at all. But the suggestion we desired to urge was, that stacking would brighten the grain, which is this year mostly of a dead color, and add a few dollars more to the revenue of the farmer, which all will frankly acknowledge is always well enough.

Feeding Band Wire with Straw.

As the use of self-binders, wire being used, are coming into use quite generally, it is well to more cautiously in the matter of allowing cattle to eat straw from which the wire has not been removed, though the wire may not prove fatal, as is shown by the senior Mr. Clarkson, in the Iowa State Register.

"Self-binders, using wire, are coming into general use, and stock younger stock, the consequence to be jeopardized by any injurious element. In 1863 and 1864 the grain on Melrose farm was bound with wire, using the Burson binder. There was no effort made to save the wire from the straw when threshing. The cattle on the farm were wintered at the Melrose farm. At the time there was considerable talk on this subject, and consequently the result of such feeding was watched with interest.

There could not be discovered outwardly any deleterious effects of the wire on the grain, and the younger stock. All appeared to prosper and were healthy. This would appear to be nearly conclusive evidence that there was no danger from such wire.

But in the fall of 1864 was slaughtered a steer for beef, and made close observations as to the effect of the wire. The steer had not eaten any of the straw in which there was wire for seven months. There was in the stomach (sometimes called manure) found a half a hundred pieces of wire of from half an inch to an inch long, sticking in the honeycomb lining of the first stomach. They were fast and unmovable by any operation of nature, and would evidently have remained there as long as the animal lived. There were few in the second and less in the third stomach; but none could be found in the smaller intestines. And while the presence of these wires threatened serious difficulty, yet there was no danger to the health of the animal, matter of occasion around the wire. The next year (after they had been feeding two winters on the same) we slaughtered again, and found the wires in the third stomach. In the fall of 1866, we killed a dry cow, which had no chance of eating wire for twenty months, but the pieces were found plentifully. And yet during all this time, and ever since, our stock has been healthy and grew finely under the care administered at Melrose farm. And there are two cows at least now on the farm, doing their duty, who fed on straw and wire twelve years ago."

And yet, with this evidence before us of the innocent effect of wire, we would in threshing remove the wire from the straw. A band cutter can easily throw out the wire. A pair of shears is best for cutting wire on bundles, and it is but little trouble to catch the wire in the left hand and pull it out as it is cut.—Western Farm Journal.

VEGETINE

Vegetine Purifies the Blood and Gives Strength.

Dr. QUINN, Ill., Jan. 21, 1877.

Dear Sir,—Your "Vegetine" has been doing wonders for me. Have been having the Chills and Fever, contracted in the swampy districts of the South, nothing giving me relief until I began the use of your Vegetine, it relieved me immediately, to-day my system, purified my blood, giving strength; whereas all other medicines weakened me, and filled my system with poison; and I am satisfied that it will live in the agricultural districts of the South and West would take Vegetine two or three times a week, they would not be troubled with the "Chills" or the malarial fever that prevail at certain times of the year, save doctors' bills, and live to a good old age. Respectfully yours, J. M. QUINN.

Agent Henderson's Looms, St. Louis, Mo.

All Diseases of the Blood. If Vegetine will relieve pain, cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health, after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid, it can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease is in the blood, and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

VEGETINE

Has Entirely Cured Me of Vertigo.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS.—CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 23, 1878.

Dear Sir,—I have used several bottles of "Vegetine," it has entirely cured me of Vertigo. I have also used it for Kidney Complaint. It is the best medicine for kidney complaint. I would recommend it as a good blood purifier.

PAIN AND DISCOMFORT. Can we expect to enjoy good health when our blood is impure? The blood, the cause of pain and disease, and these humors, being deposited through the entire body, produce pimples, eruptions, rashes, rickets, and other diseases. Vegetine purifies the blood, and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

VEGETINE

I Believe it to be a Good Medicine.

Dr. STEVENS.—Xenia, O., March 1, 1877.

Dear Sir,—I wish to inform you that your Vegetine has done for me. I have been afflicted with Neuralgia, and after using three bottles of the Vegetine was entirely relieved. I also found my general health much improved. I believe it to be a good medicine. FRED HARTVICK.

Vegetine thoroughly eradicates every kind of humor, and restores the entire system to a healthy condition.

My practice is not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it. It does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no fasting, no starving. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of chronic diseases chronically; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or to cure everything, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make investigations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. —Miller.
—Go to church.
—Fresh orsters at Day's.
—Get a rest to-morrow but don't get arrested.

—The days are growing shorter but the Sundays are just as long as ever.
—Miss Lizzie Blinn has been engaged to sing at Court Street church after the first of October. She will be gladly welcomed there.

—The fellow who ships a three cent piece into the collection plate, may make the others in the pew believe it's a dime, but the Lord knows it isn't so.

—One of the preachers will talk to-morrow about "the boys and girls in the streets." It tells all that is known about them; it will be a long but sensational sermon.

—Miss Fannie Wright observed her birthday anniversary last evening by inviting in a small company of friends. The occasion was evidently enjoyed by all who participated.

—Mr. N. Woodford, who is the agent for G. G. Green, of Woodbury, N. J., made a very pleasant call upon the Gazette yesterday. He is looking after Mr. Green's trade among the druggists.

—Jo. Bostwick started East today to hunt up fall goods to meet the demands of Smith & Bostwick's trade. Keep one eye open for the boxes and bales which will soon come rolling and tumbling in.

—"On the bridge at midnight," is a very pretty song, but it knocks all the romance out of it to see a fellow leaning over the rail, unloading his cargo of mixed drinks and free lunches. It's a sea-sick scene too sick to see.

—It is strange that in this enlightened age letter-writers should put only a one-cent stamp on a letter to go beyond the city limits, but such is the case, and several letters are at the postoffice waiting for the extra two cents. The one-cent letters are never the ones sent.

—A fellow who thought he was some on his muscle peeled off his coat in a saloon the other night to indulge in a friendly wrestle. When the first round was ended, he looked about for his jacket but found that some sneak-thief had walked out with it. Another man had his hat stolen off his head the same night at the same place.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 54 degrees above and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 69 degrees above.

The indications are for the upper lake region clear or partly cloudy weather, winds mostly westerly, stationary or higher pressure and temperature.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

A 12-year old son of Mrs. A. L. Clark was cleaning a revolver to-day noon when it was accidentally discharged, sending a ball into his leg just above the knee, causing a flesh wound which bled freely for a time, but which will not bleed very seriously, it is thought.

A BAD RUNAWAY.

A horse which was being driven by Mr. S. M. Rockwood, this afternoon, about 3 o'clock, near his residence on the west end of Pleasant street, when the steed became frightened and ran away, throwing Mr. Rockwood out, and injuring him it is feared quite seriously, as he lay unconscious. A physician was at once sent for, but his opinion of the extent of the injuries is not yet known.

FATHER DOYLE'S ILLNESS.
Yesterday afternoon Father Doyle was taken suddenly ill while in McCIernan & Co's store, and at once removed to his home, and a physician sent for. It proved to be an attack of congestion of the brain, and he has since been in a semi-comatose condition, and his case is deemed a critical one. His many friends and admirers both inside and outside of the church unite in the hope that the illness may not prove as serious as is feared, and that he will be speedily restored to his usual health.

MISS WILLARD'S LECTURE.
Arrangements have been perfected by which Miss Francis A. Willard is to lecture in Janesville about the middle of next month, at the Congregational church. This will be gratifying news to many of her admirers here, who always delight to hear her. Miss Willard spent her girlhood in Janesville, and this coupled with the fact that she has now won a national reputation makes her coming here of more than ordinary interest. She is a wonderfully eloquent and elegant speaker, as all who have heard her can testify.

A SMALL BLAZE.

Last evening, shortly before 6 o'clock, a haystack belonging to Thomas Conroy, of the Second ward, was burned. It consisted of about seven tons, and was located near the barn, so that for a time that building was greatly endangered, and was only saved by hard work with buckets. The family were all away when the fire was discovered, and the cause of the blaze is unknown. The loss is covered by insurance in the American, of Chicago. No alarm was given to the Department.

WHERE ARE THE CISTERNS?

Chief Engineer Young, of the Fire Department, is anxious to ascertain the names of all those citizens, residing away from the river banks, who have cisterns, from which they are willing that the engines should draw water in case of a need arising to extinguish a fire. Parties owning such cisterns, and being thus willing to have them used in cases of emergencies, will do a favor to the Department and to the city generally by forwarding their names to the Chief Engineer, who will see to it that they are properly recorded, and that proper arrangements are made so that the cisterns may be promptly used in case of need.

Still at the Davis House.

Drs. Williams and Forden, the great magnetic physicians, are doing good work. Consultation free. They remain until Tuesday.

ON THE GREEN.

The Mutuals Defeated by the Providence Club Yesterday—Other Sporting Notes.

The Providence club defeated the Mutuals on yesterday, by a score of 17 to 6. The Mutuals were short three of their best players, and some unfortunate errors in the first inning, which would not have been made if there had been any one to direct the infield playing, broke the place all up and as they were unable to recover their equilibrium, the visitors succeeded in making a number of runs after easy chance; they were offered for whitewashes. The Providence nine were a little off in their fielding, and if Bliss had been on second base and the Mutuals, and the nine had played as well as they have in a half dozen different games, the League boys would have been defeated. Burdick's pitching bothered the visitors considerably and if he had been supported in any kind of shape, they would not have made three hits in the game. As it was, they got but eleven out of forty-nine times to bat, and twenty-nine errors to assist them. Many of our experts in base-ball matters will be surprised to learn that Burdick's pitching is considerably swifter than Weaver's, and that his in-curve is the best in the country. Such is the universal opinion of the Providence nine, and it goes to show that even-son has been doing some remarkable catching especially when Burdick gets on his ear and sends them in wild.

There was a large attendance on the outside, and it is a pity photographs couldn't be taken of some of the groups. We know of no better advertising dodge for merchants just starting in business than to exhibit themselves stealing a sight of the ball game. The Mutuals made eight base hits three of them two basers, which is more than the Milwaukee have done in either of the games this week.

The Bostonians whitewashed the Indianapolis yesterday and scored 3.

LET THEM HAVE PEAS.

Last night some boys bent on plunder made a raid on the apple-trees on the premises of J. B. Crosby and Dr. A. P. Burras. As they were vigorously clubbing off the fruit, Dr. Burras heard them, and being forewarned by previous attempts was accordingly forearmed with an old blunderbuss loaded with old peas. He blazed away at the gang and they scattered as badly and quickly as did the peas. No wounded were left on the field, but one of young thieves left his straw tie behind him, which the Doctor secured as a trophy, and has placed in this office as a curiosity. The owner can have it on applying there, paying property, and paying the charges, which don't amount to much as a charge of peas costs but little.

The boys have of late grown quite bold and insolent in their raids on fruit trees, and in several instances have plundered in the day time, and when the women folk have tried to drive them away, have answered saucily, and in some instances with threats. If a few were brought to justice it would have a favorable effect on the others.

UNINVITED GUESTS.

A private social and dance was given last evening about three miles from Janesville, and some of the city youths invited themselves to be present. They engaged a hack and drove out there. The leader stepped up to the door and was informed that he was not among those honored by an invitation. He gave back some talk, but didn't have a chance to say much before he was given a clip and a kick. The driver of the hack commenced yelling "murder, fire, burglars," and started to drive off, but the leader managed to climb in, leaving the rest of the gang to walk home. The invited guests followed the visitors from the premises and buried stones at the hack until it rolled beyond reach. For a few minutes the air was full of war and rumors of war.

THE GREAT AWAKENING.

Rev. Mr. Chapell, of the Baptist church, proposes to deliver out the past and present in a course of lectures, some historical facts and religious truths gleaned from "the great awakening of 1740." His first lecture will be to-morrow evening, and the others to follow one week apart, the subjects being as follows:

Sept. 15.—Condition of Religion 150 years ago.

Sept. 22.—John Wesley and the Movement in Great Britain.

Sept. 29.—Jonathan Edwards and the movement in New England.

Oct. 6.—Gilbert Tennant and the movement in the Middle Colonies.

Oct. 13.—George Whitefield—the Cosmopolitan Evangelist.

Oct. 20.—James Davenport and the disorders.

Oct. 27.—Results and Lessons.

The lectures will be largely biographical as well as historical, setting forth the careers of such men as Edwards and Wesley and Whitefield. All students of history, whatever may be their religious opinions, know the peculiar character of this period as one in which there was a mighty working up of humanity. Nearly all the prominent existing evangelical denominations either had their birth, or took a new departure at about that time. The theme is well worthy of the study of every thoughtful mind, whether infidel or Christian.

WINNIE WINS.
The following notice of a hymenal event which took place in Galesburg, Michigan, August 29, and which is clipped from one of the local papers there will be read with interest by some of our readers, who have had the pleasure of meeting Rev. Mr. Hunt and members of the family, in their visits to this city:

Mr. M. S. Winnie, of the city of Jackson, has selected from our village one of our most highly honored ladies, Miss Allie Hunt, daughter of Rev. L. M. Hunt, who accompanied him on the evening of the 29th inst. to the hymenal altar. The nuptial ceremony was pronounced by Rev. L. M. Hunt. Mrs. Winnie is an exemplary lady member of the Congregational church in Galesburg, and her exit from our village for a permanent home in Jackson, is regretted by those who appreciated her valuable examples. She has had the advantage of a classical education and a refined society. Her happiness be thine to enjoy. Mr. and Mrs. Winnie were the recipients of many valuable presents, which bears testimony of their highly valued and appreciated merits.

THE STATE FAIR.

A Review of the Several Departments—General Remarks on the Fair.

The following correspondence was received to late for publication in Friday's paper.

MADISON, Sept. 12, 1878.

To-day the throng was very much diminished from yesterday, and this which has always been considered the "best day," is only fair.

The Agricultural Department is one of the best provided and arranged, while Dr. Martin has received much praise for the manner he has conducted his department. The glass globes—some three hundred in number—being the same ones we sent to Philadelphia in 1876, present a fine appearance filled with samples of grain. Broom corn 18 feet high stood beside the jets, and bees were busy as b b stowing away their stock of supplies.

The Horticultural Department also presented a fine show that the workers in this branch took pride in their products. Manufacturers Hall was also quite attractive, and the ingenuity brought out is creditable indeed. One article deserving special mention is the Vacuum Cream Separator, patented by J. W. Powers, no less a personage than second cousin to Hiram Powers, the celebrated sculptor, and our friend in question, is also a sculptor who has attained much fame in the products of his chisel; but having too much in his head, he produced this very important article, which any person who is the fortunate possessor of one, two, or a half dozen cows, will recognize as of great utility. The purpose is to take cream from the milk in less time than by any other process, and the purity of the cream is doubly insured, having been freed from all impurities. It is not necessary that a person must be a dairyman, for it is as well adapted to one cow, as to one hundred, and is as free from insects, besides being capable of being operated in any room or cellar, and as the cream can be "raised" in any temperature it needs no cold water or ice. We look upon this as a grand triumph in this department, as it is based on purely philosophical principles, the object being to produce a vacuum above the milk, thus compelling the cream to rise in a hurry. This ingenious apparatus can be made of either tin or other material, and has an air tight cover and a piston the full size of the cylinder. A hollow rod is attached to the upper plate of the piston. To the lower plate is attached a smaller rod, the upper and lower screws thread, and by means of a nut placed on it, and working against a hollow rod the two circular plates are drawn together. Between the two plates at their outer edges is a rubber ring, which, by the pressure of the plates makes it air tight. In a few hours the cream can be removed. We suggest that this can be made of glass also, as the whole process can thus be witnessed by the scientific housewife. There is another thing that can be considered, which is this: The same principles governing canned fruit govern this, and if the busy lady should perchance be ready to churn, even and her husband wishes her to accompany him to the President Hayes excursion to Washington, or to visit the Paris Exposition, she can set the extractor down cellar again and the cream will be good when she returns six months hence. We congratulate the inventor, Mr. Powers, on his success in producing this necessary article, in a country where, according to some reports, there are a million cows, and which has already placed him on an independent financial footing. This alone demonstrates the fact that Mr. Powers is not a mere ideal man, but can raise cream from milk, or raise an angel from a block of marble. The Powers Cream Separator Company is located in Portage, Wisconsin.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.
Ever since the bed of thorns in the Garden of Eden, people have been trying to produce something easy to sleep upon, and all the new fangled devices have been introduced, and many creditable things have appeared. But here is a bed known as McIntyre's Union Spring Bed Bottom, manufactured at Oregon, Wisconsin, for Comstock & Tracy, the proprietors, that beats all previous efforts. The springs are known as the right and left spring, and are coiled so as to prevent their upper ends from being made of the finest Bessemer steel, and the elasticity is considered perfect. Another point of superiority is the top part of the bed proper rests on a brace of other springs just below, which are made of larger wire, which answer as relief springs to the upper ones, and make it more durable. The 96 springs are so arranged that no part is overtaxed, or the main object lost. And to a person seeking rest, this is the one to secure. It has taken the first prizes for seven consecutive years at exhibits from Philadelphia to Omaha, which is a fine endorsement. It has also an attachment secured by patent, to prevent the mattress from sagging at the head, preventing many opportunities for restless people to lose their patience, by waking up and finding their heads lower than their heels. The manufacturers, the McIntyres, and Proprietors Comstock and Tracy seem to be men of business capacity and energy to carry out this work, and will furnish any information desired.

A NEW DOOR SPRING.
Pierce's patent door spring is another ingenious device, A. W. Pierce & Bro., Milwaukee. The object in this is to produce a spring in which the tension is uniform in whatever position the door may be placed—the power of the springs being brought to bear directly upon its own hinges. By this process the slamming of the doors are avoided, as tension is equal and the springs are made lasting and durable. To free the door from the action of the springs you have only to detach a hook at the end of a lever and the door is free. Get these celebrated door springs and you will not have to place a chair before the door.

HOLLISTER'S PHARMACY
attracted special attention. Mr. Hollister is an old Rock county man, and a member of the medical profession, was particularly interested in his display on this account. There was a fine assortment of toilet goods on exhibition here, and among the attractions was a fountain of the celebrated perfume "Mendota Boquet." The handkerchiefs of visitors were nicely perfumed by it, while the spray filled the air with its exquisite odor.

CURE FOR NEURALGIA.
One of the meritorious articles among the medicine men is the Great Neuralgia Cure, of Dr. A. G. Wells of Oakfield, Wisconsin, and his cures on the spot have been fraught with good results; and many patients attest its usefulness for head aches, sore throat, and all the kindred diseases that infect poor humanity; and the rapidity in cures in many instances, brought a large number of customers. The Doctor is more moderate than many in the same business, as he don't say it never fails, but he does say it seldom fails. This is found among the druggists and is well to bear in mind.

FOUND AT LAST.
One of the most important and deserving articles on exhibition at this State Fair is the new and improved mill for cleaning grain, manufactured by Johnson & Fildes, Chicago, Wis. It has long been an effort on the part of inventors to produce a mill that will separate oats from wheat, and still more of an effort to produce one that will divide the small from the large oats, but this is just what is accomplished in the Johnson feed mill. The construction of the mill is such that the grain, the cockle, pigeon grass, or chaff, will be divided or separated from the wheat which must or should be pure before it goes into our rich soil. In this one thing alone, these manufacturers are real benefactors to the life's blood of our agricultural interests. Their large warehouse mill is a model of its kind and is arranged for belts to propel it. The bundles are double the usual size, of which one is furnished each mill with attached spout, a wheat screen and grader, also an oat and barley sieve. Their zinc sieves are the plus ultra of grain separators, and one of a durable and lasting pattern. They can be supplied in large or small quantities. We can not recommend too highly their farm mill, which is built on the same principle of the warehouse mill and the sales must be large, as soon as tillers of the soil are made acquainted with the facts. These mills are made of the very best material (a fact that applies to all other machinery from this place) and are being a credit to the fair. The risk of iron for the protection of the drum. They are calculated to sustain a motion of nearly three hundred revolutions per minute, and will in every case do first class work. Every person any way interested in this, or other class of machinery will do well to correspond with this firm.

SHOW OF POULTRY.
Among the coops, W. C. Huginia, of Janesville had the most extensive display, including fowls of all kinds, chickens, pigeons, geese and ducks. He also had some beautiful rabbits on exhibition. Among the ducks were some fine specimens of White-Crested and Colored, Muscovy, Cayuga, Rouen and Aylesbury. One of his Muscovy ducks weighed eleven pounds. His chickens were also very fine, and the blue ribbons were flying on many of the coops. Among them was a Light Brahma cock which took the prize at the Chicago Exposition last fall. Jacobus Carrier, Poulter, Fan Tail, Drummer and Tumbler pigeons were to be seen in the display. As were also white and common guinea fowl. The display was a fine one, and reflects great credit on the exhibitor and on the town which he represents.

THE HARRIS MANUFACTURING COMPANY make a fine display of agricultural machinery, prominent in which is their Leader self-raking reaper, which has already gained a firm hold on the hearts of the farmers. It has points which speak for themselves the excellence of the machine, and when put in practical use in the field it far surpasses even the expectations of the farmers. The Leader mower is not a whit behind, and day after day farmers gathered about this display and tried to rival each other in complimentary relations of personal experience with the machine. The Prairie City Sewing Machine marked improvements was also exhibited with the other goods of this company. It too has met with wonderful success. Among the newer machinery was the adjustable spring tooth cultivator or harrow, which seemed to inspire a great deal of enthusiasm both among those who had never before used it, and also among those who knew its merits by practical use. Each tooth is coiled spring of the best steel, so that it cannot clog and cannot break. It was driven over a railroad track with perfect safety. It adjusts itself to all kinds of ground, has a light draft, and pulverizes the soil thoroughly. It is selling like hot cakes, and promises to be one of the most popular machines yet put in the field.

FOR CULTIVATING CORN.
Mr. C. Sexton of Janesville, exhibits a cultivator manufactured by him which is the recipient of many enthusiastic compliments from those who have seen it work. It is a four or six shovelled cultivator of the first class, and has a revolving harrow attachment that will work over the corn until it is six inches high, exterminating all weeds, and stirring up the dirt, so that it does not need to be followed up with the hoe, it doing its work completely. For corn planted in drills it is especially adapted. A number of prominent farmers in Rock county who used it this season are loud in its praise.

THE MARSH NO. 4
Of course attracted considerable attention among those in any way interested in farm machinery. It is a controllable self-raking reaper and mower combined and is manufactured by James S. Marsh, in Pennsylvania, but its western office and warehouse is at Janesville, where it has been established since 1867.

At the Rock County fair this machine took the prize as being the best combined machine on exhibition there. It meets with like honors wherever it appears. Among its most unique and noticeable features are its simplicity of construction, its light draft, the ease with which it can be changed from a mow to a reaper, its durability, and the wonderful ease with which it does its work and does it well. Its controllable rate has many advantages and its popularity seems to be steadily increasing. As a mower, the Marsh No. 4, combines many good qualities. It adapts itself to the unevenness of any ground, and all necessary changes can readily be made without stopping the machine. As a reaper it has a flexible bar which enables the operator to cut an even stubble. It cannot be crumpled or clogged, and it is easily handled. In fact even a casual glance at this machine convinces one of its many advantages while a practical use of it reveals many others.

Pick-pockets have been busy, and we hear often of their depredations, some of whom are suspected of being females, and frequently we hear of some officer being in pursuit of the petty thieves. We have no doubt that the society were to take care of Hayes and company, but it seems that the city sort of jumped the claims and put in for her share of the honors. However he has come and gone, and there is some disappointment. Now you see it was a mistake to suppose the Society would be able to hold an immense crowd for three consecutive days, and by the process of robbing Peter to pay Paul—why both Paul and Peter were apostrophically beaten. The first day maybe eight thousand people—probably but seven thousand were inside the seats, and Wednesday say eleven thousand or so, and to-day there have not been over five thousand and the too, when there should have been four times that number. Country people who drive 20 miles, or excursionists who rode 100 miles Tuesday to see the President, of course did not come to-day, and many who originally intended to have come from the eastern part of the State Wednesday and Thursday, concluded they could see the Chief Executive by remaining or going to Milwaukee. So their half dollars did not fall into the Society at Madison.

Another thing is, the State Society has made a mistake by placing the admission at 50 cents, for on general principles three times the people will pay 25 cents that will pay twice this sum. Try it, and see, give the populace a chance, and avoid counter attractions in all fairs, and if railroads will carry visitors from the extreme north of the State at a slight advance over those only 50 or 100 miles off, it would shake up the State immensely on such occasions.

This evening is election of officers, and to-morrow will witness the wind-up, and all will shake the dust from their feet, and go home to dream of the sights and scenes, of the candy they have nibbled, of the nickles invested in peanuts and pop corn, and an occasional lost wallet, or a second prize, when they will declare it should have been first premium.

The Cook Not to Blame.
Many nice delicacies are spoiled by the abominable flavorings used in them, and generally it is attributed to the cook. Now if Dr. Price's Fine Flavorings are used, nice dishes will not be spoiled, as they always impart their delicate fresh fruit flavor in whatever they may be used.
